

"We are considered to be subversives, and so our very existence is criminal. As far as the prisoncrats are concerned, prisoners who organize or attempt to organize other prisoners, or raise their consciousness, are viewed as interfering with the orderly running of the camps, and so they are not tolerated!"

DOWN: Reflections on Prison Resistance in Indiana.

